HOUSE CONTESTS

THE ELECTIVE OFFICES AND THE MEN WHO WANT TO FILL THEM.

Brief Interview with Senator Sherman-Revival of the Rumor that D. B. Hill Is to Be Married.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 .- The fact transpired to-day that the Democratic steering committee of the Senate held a meeting in this city of three hours' duration on Wednesday last. The members who were present are very reticent as to what occurred, but it is known that a thorough canvass was made of the Democratic situation with a view of deciding on a line of policy in the next session. The question of the organization of the Senate was discussed at length. The committee did not reach a final conclusion on this matter, but when it adjourned there was a general understanding that unless future events should make such a change desirable the committee will recommened to the Democrats in the Senate to make no move whatever until the Republicans and the Populists shall develop their plans. It appeared from the discussion that Democratic Senators are divided as to the policy to pursue, some advocating an active effort to retain Democratic control of the Senate, while others advise surrender to the Republicans without a struggle. The steering committee finally concluded that it would be wise to wait until it was made plain whether the Republicans would be a unit in their desire to take control, and whether the Populists would hold together or some of them agree to assist the Republicans. This, the committee felt, the Democrats could afford is a continuing body and the present organization holds until supplanted by anthe absence of the Vice President it would but it is believed by the Democratic managers that Vice President Stevenson's pres-ence can be counted on. Some of the Democratic Senators consider it very doubtful whether the Republicans can get together on a plan of organization. At any rate, they do not expect the Republicans to take aggressive steps until after the Utah Sen-ators shall come in and it shall be deter-mined what disposition shall be made of Mr. Dupont's claim to the vacant seat from Delaware.

There are indications that the committee also considered the general question of party policy with reference to legislation which shall be proposed by the Republican party in the Senate and House, and there are reasons for believing that the steering nittee will recommend a determined effort all along the line to restore Democratic prestige in the country. One plan which probably will be adopted to this end is that of insisting on a thorough discussion of all questions which may be presented. Members of the steering committee, therefore, scout the idea of a short session.

THE CONTESTS FOR OFFICE. Candidates for Positions Within the Gift of Congressmen. WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 .- The canvass for the principal offices at the disposal of the House of Representatives, which opened in a slow and quiet fashion this week, is becoming more animated as the time apof Clerk, with a salary of $5,000; Sergeantat-arms, $4,500; Doorkeeper, $3,500; Postmaster, $2,500; Chaplain, $900. There are from didates for the principal places have opened headquarters in the Ebbitt House and Willard's Hotel, and their respective rooms are paratively few of the members of the House have arrived, the visitors being composed largely of those who hope to secure appointive positions under the elective officers. There are only two candidates for the House clerkship. They are ex-Congressman last year. McDowell began his canvass a year ago, as soon as it became apparent that the Republicans would have the House. It is claimed that he has the solid support of the New York and Pennsylvania delega-tions. This claim is made the basis of opposition on the part of Mr. Henderson's adherents, as is also the fact that the speakership is conceded to Mr. Reed, who also comes from an Eastern State. "We are not," said Congressman Cannon, who is a stanch supporter of Genera! Henderson, "putting our claims on sectional grounds, but we cannot overlook the fact that there are 145 Republican members west of the Ohio line to ninety east of it. The speakership, which all concede to Mr. Reed, of Maine, because of his availability and fitness, carries with it nine-tenths of the official honors of the House. It would seem that the West, with such a large majority iso comes from an Eastern State. that the West, with such a large majority of the Republican membership, should be conceded the clerkship."

Mr. McDowell's friends claim, however, that he will secure a large vote both in the West and the South. They assert that they will secure the entire delegation from Misseuri, and there are negotiations in progress which they say may give them other solid State delegations from that other solid State delegations from that geographical section.

Capt T. H. McKee, of Indiana, secretary of the Republican congressional campaign committee, and Mr. B. Russell of Missouri, are so far the only announced candidates for the office of Sergeant-at-arms. Each has his State delegation behind him, and Mr. Russell is understood to be working in conjunction with the McDowell forces. Mr. McKee has, however, the advantage of a more extended political acquaintance. There has been some talk among members of the Minnesota delegation of bringing out Mr. Reed, of that State, who was a defeated candidate for this office in the Fifty-first Congress, for Sergeant-at-arms. A Mr. Hartshorn, of Iowa, has also been mentioned in this connection.

The principal candidates for Doorkeeper are Mr. Glenn. of New York, and W. L. Tipton, of Tennessee. Glen has been identified with New York State politics for some years, and Tipton is the editor of a newspaper at Cleveland, Tenn.

Henry Sherwood, so far, is the only pronounced candidate for the House postmastership. He halls from Michigan, and was Postmaster during the Forty-third and Forty-seventh Congresses, and also postmaster in the city of Washington for four years under President Harrison's appointment. It is considered probable that Ohio may bring out a candidate for either this office or that of doorkeeper.

Of the several candidates for Chaplain six are Washington preachers. They are Revs. Ramsdell and Easton, Presbyterians; Parsons and Gottwald, Lutherans; Brown, Methodist, and Smith, Baptist. The one outsider in the list is Rev. Mr. Fisher, of Wansas

Wrote Only Facts of History. WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 .- "I wrote only the naked truth in my book, and they cannot weaken that though they come by the hundreds," said Senator Sherman to-day, when his attention was called to General Alger's letter taking exception to the Senator's reflections on his conduct in the national Republican convention of 1888. "I wrote only the facts of history in that record. It was," he continued, "as disagree-able to me to write them as it can possibly be to others to have them published, but the facts cannot be altered by objections on the part of those who feel hurt. I do not, however, wish to add to what I have already If General Alger wants to keep the matter stirred up he can do so; I have nothing to add to what I have already said." With this Senator Sherman dismissed the interviewer, declining to consider General Alger's assertion.

IS HILL TO BE MARRIED!

New York's Senator Has Leased a Residence Built for Two.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 .- It is said that Senator David B. Hill, of New York, has leased a large house on I street, in the most fashionable quarter of the city, and expects to take possession soon after the meeting of Congress. He is either going to marry or is going to avoid the discomforts of hotel life in the capital. It is hard enough for married people to live at the hotels in Washington, but for bachelors notel life is a burden indeed. Senator Hill is not in Was lington at present. Though the rumor that he is about to marry has percolated through the political atmosphere pretty. thoroughly, none of his friends are in position to throw any light on the report, but the fact remains that he has leased a residence built for two.

Cannot Abrogate Indian Treaties. Browning said to-day that the decision of and the rights of the Indians under it. He said that the Bannocks had been guaranteed the right to hunt on the public lands and that the Indian Office did not want to have them killed because they did so. The decision, it was stated, confirms the view of the Interior Department that it is not competent for the State of Wyoming to pase any law which would modify, limit or in any way abridge the right of the In-dians to hunt as guaranteed by their treaty and that the game laws of the State of Wyoming, as against the treaty rights of these Indians, are absolutely null and void.

Message Probably Discussed. WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 .- The regular Friday Cabinet meeting to-day was attended by all the members except Secretary Morton, who has gone West. The President was driven into town from Woodley by Mrs. Cleveland. He has been engrossed by his annual message to Congress for some time, and it is believed that this and the matters to be included in the reports of the Cabinet officers and the state of the finances formed the topics discussed at the meeting. Fire Fanned by a Blizzard. GUTHRIE, O. T., Nov. 22 .- A disastrous prairie fire has been raging in Pottawatomie county and the Seminole reservation for three days. It has swept away scores of farm buildings and their con-tents. TO-DAY'S FOOTBALL GAMES

YALE AND PRINCETON TO MEET ON MANHATTAN FIELD.

Harvard and Pennsylvania to Struggle on the Cambridge Gridiron, and Butler and DePauw in This City.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CHICAGO, Nov. 22.-The Western League delegates finally settled the question of the Columbus franchise to-night at 11 o'clock, the privilege going to Tom Loftus. Loftus will buy the Grand Rapids players of Manager Ellis. It was further decided to take in Omaha as the eighth city of the league, in place of Toledo, as originally designed. Manning, of Kansas City; Comiskey, of St. Paul, and Goodnow, of Minneapolis, were appointed a committee to visit Omaha and select the proper persons to whom to award the franchise. The league adjourned at 11:30 p. m., but will meet in the morning to setle some minor details.

until II o'clock to-night. The delegates remained in session last night until almost daylight, some of the would-be peacemakers resorting to every possible device in order to bring about a compromise, but without success. Mr. Brusn, of Indianapolis, was the most convivial man who ever lived when it came to joining in the good-natured repartee that was fired about promiscuously during the passing hours, but he did WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 .- Commissioner | not flinch an inch at the proposition of disnority. So the night fled. The magnates slept all forenoon and got together to-day for another vote, being in remarkable good there was no break in the line, except the fact that Mr. Brush switched his vote from 'Burt" Dasher to Mr. Shepherd, the streetrailway man, whom Mr. Goodnow has supported from the opening of the meeting on the Columbus franchise. This made the ballet stand: Loftus, 4; Shepherd, 2. So it has stood all day and until late to-night.

Mr. Brush had to go home this evening. He left his proxy in the nands of Mr. Goodnow. Possibly this is what led finally to a Manager Walter Wilmot, of the Minne-apolis club, to-day signed Arthur Ball, one of the best-known players of the Chicago City League, and a man with experience in professional ranks in the Virginia State league. Yale and Princeton Booked to "Mix" at New York To-Day. NEW YORK, Nov. 22.-The premonitory symptoms of the annual Yale-Princeton football game are breaking out all over the city to-day in the filling up of the hotels with parties of loudly-clad collegians from all the institutions of learning within a five-hundred-mile radius and the eruption of colors of the two contesting colleges in all the shop windows. The familiar Yale blue and Nassau's orange and black gleam from all the Broadway windows. The habberdashers display ties, socks and underdry goods houses set forth cloths and silks same colors; the upholsterers have nothing but wares of those colors in evidence; the florists seem to have but two Y or P woven in them. The photographers have also withdrawn the photographs useally seen in their show cases for group pictures of the competitive teams and photo-

The Yale team arrived in town at 10 o'clock in charge of trainer "Mike" Murphy and went to the Plaza Hotel. Trainer Murphy said that all his men were Dr. Josh Hartwell, of the Yale old guard, said that the match to-morrow would probably be an even thing, with the chances slightly in favor of Yale's victory. Princeton, he said, was strongest on the line, but yet Yale was stronger behind the line. If Princeton's line was yet stronger it would surely win as no backs, however powerful, could break through a strong line. The Yale men were in a better condition than the Princeton, according to Dr. Hartand this would increase the chances

In the earlier part of the evening the betting was slightly in favor of Yale, set bets being made at odds of 10 to 7. Later there was a rally in favor of Princeton and some bets at even money were offered and taken. Pennsylvania is expected to spring new plays, but the crimson think they are ready for them. Harvard's defense should show up strongly, especially at center and ends, while tackle is their vulnerable spot. To-night it is learned that Malcolm Donald will be unable to play left tackle and Ally Gould wal take his pace. Behind the line, Harvard's strength is an unknown quantity, but can hardly compare with the "Quakers." Charlie Brewer will have to beat his best in kicking to hold his own with Brooke, of Pennsylvania. The officials of the game have been decided on as follows: Referee, Pratt, of Amherst; umpires, Kennedy, of Leland Stanford, and Bliss, of Yale. The line-up will be in the Gridiron for the Struggle. There is to be a game of football this afternoon at the Ohio-street grounds. At midnight it seems that the game will be mud, but a little thing like that does not been training the DePauw eleven and it is said that he has developed some wonderful players. Coach Flint has brought out the Butler eleven amazingly and the work of the last two months indicates wonderful improvement. The coaches will officiate at the game, insuring "clean" ball, that is, as clean as can be played on a muddy ground. The spectators need not hold back because of the mid, for there is a good grand stand at the ball park and those who do not enjoy football may find it enjoyable watching the college players scuffling in the mud. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

SCHLATTER'S DAILY LIFE.

The Healer as His Long Island Neighbors Saw Him.

Jamesport (L. I.) Letter in Brooklyn Eagle. of the shoemaker's cures. The village is much excited over the Denver healer. At Jamesport some interesting facts were learned by an Eagle reporter who visited the village this morning. Whatever may be true of the cures of the healer in the West, his prescriptions do not work on his Jamesport friends, who have communicated with Schlatter in Deneyr. The reporter interviewed a number of people, and on the promise of their names being withheld was told how they had received handkerchiefs and other articles from Schlatter with directions how to become new in health and body. The good folks tried his cures with all the faith imaginable, but their ailments did not disappear. Some of Schlatter's friends say he is "off," while many residents say he never was quite right in his head. He never showed any particular pref-erence as regards religious faith. He was brought up a Catholic, so he told his friends. He had been known to walk to the Catholic church at Riverhead, a distance of six miles. He occasionally went to the village churches, Congregational and Methodist. churches, Congregational and Methodist, but Schlatter was not a regular churchgoer. He came to Jamesport in 1890 with William Ryan, elder son of Thomas Ryan. Ryan was an engineer, and Schlatter had been employed as his fireman on a fishing steamer. Schlatter boarded with the Ryan family. He went lishing for two seasons. Then he tired of the work and settled himself at his trade. He hired half of the house of Aunt Sally Corwins and began making shoes. He kept house for himself then. He was well up in his trade, and acted as finisher of fine hand-made shoes, the parts of which were sent him from New York. Everybody agrees that Schlatter was the finest shoemaker they ever saw, and he made good wages. Schlatter, while at Jamesport, is described as a tall, robust fellow of dark complexion.

He did not wear whiskers, but had a be-coming black mustache. He was apparently between thirty-five and forty years of age. He came to Long island from New York city and little of his family record is known. city and little of his family record is known.

Daniel A. Young, justice of the peace at South Jamesport, says Schlatter was a trifle insane, but always firm in his convictions. Mr. Young says that Schlatter was always a great Republican until 1892, when he suddenly changed and became a Socialist. He believed that the Socialist Labor party would win that year. During the latter part of his stay Schlatter told his friends of his strange dreams, when beautiful images appeared before his eyes.

He went away from Jamesport in 1893 to take charge of his mining stock and to make his fortune, as he said. These hopes were blasted when Schlatter reached New Mexico, and the Jamesport people believe that it was this great disappointment that affected his mind and made him the figure

ALASKANS NOT EXCITED.

Few Know Anything About the Al leged Boundary Dispute.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 22 .- Joseph Murray, United States commissioner of fisheries in Alaska and special agent of the treasury, has just passed through Denver on his way from Alaska to Washington, having been summoned by the President to report on the boundary survey which has been the cause of national interest within the past month. In a brief interview Mr. Murray said: "The published reports about excitement in Alaska, British seizures and the building of forts are all bosh. There will be no trouble. There are no forts building; there is not a brick within a thousand miles of the territory. There are no armed forces there excepting about twenty-five Canadian police and a better lot of men or more useful detachment for either the Canadians or ourselves never went into Alaska. They have gone to the head of the Yukon river to watch for highway thieves who are infesting the gold camps. So far from there being a 'guerrilla' fight and 'excitement at fighting pitch,' the folks up there hardly know there is a survey running and none of them know its real intention. As for the details of that survey, you will have to wait until Washington announces it for I cannot say a

A Democratic Opinion.

Philadelphia Record. It would be stretching the laws of chance to assume that the Republican leaders who are assembled within the Fifth-avenue Hotel, New York, have come together accidentally, and the inevitable inquiry in all minds will be: What are they there for? The personnel of the party may help to throw light upon the problem. In the assemblage are many of the active spirits of semblage are many of the active spirits of the grand old party—the men who lay the wires and who know how to pull them. To roof for twenty-four nours without commun ing together would be to discredit human nature. Without doubt they are there for business. The business may be merely a council of war, or it may be a reconno sance in advance of the national convention, but it can hardly fail to have an influence on the fortunes of the battle. And is still the striking figure in the field—though he himself says he isn't in it.
